

After a game, Mason's feelings about his father get the best of him and he lets it all out.

Dad: You should have tried a little harder out there on the field today, Mace. I don't like people thinking my son didn't do his best.

Mason: Great, Dad. I'm really glad you made the effort to make it to the game.

Dad: You need to challenge yourself like I did if you want to make it to the big league.

Mason: You know, this whole thing is just another chance for you to pick me apart and show me how much better you are.

Dad: What are you talking about?

Mason: This is all about you, isn't it Dad? You know why Mom kicked you out? Because you're a bully and you don't give a damn about anything other than your own ego.

Dad: Mason, will you keep your voice down?

Mason: No. You know what you should do? You should do Mom a favor and give her a divorce. She'll never be happy with you, Dad. No one will.
